The Council on Economic Priorities (CEP) is pleased to announce that it has received a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of the Inspector General (OIG) to support its efforts to identify and address conflicts of interest in the federal government.

CEP Receives Grant from U.S. Department of Justice, Office of the Inspector General

The grant will support CEP's efforts to identify and address conflicts of interest in the federal government, including through the development of a new tool to help identify potential conflicts of interest.

CEP is a non-profit organization that has been working to identify and address conflicts of interest in the federal government since 1971. The organization has a long history of working with the federal government to improve the integrity of the public sector.

The grant is part of a larger effort by the OIG to improve the integrity of the federal government and to ensure that public officials are held to the highest standards of ethical conduct.

The grant will support CEP's efforts to identify and address conflicts of interest in the federal government, including through the development of a new tool to help identify potential conflicts of interest.
